It’s hard to find news today without hitting a paywall. The New York Times is available online in the library or on the go. Simply go to www.spartanburglibraries.org and click ‘Learning Tools.’ From there click ‘Learning Tools A-Z’ and scroll to the New York Times (from home) to create an account and check out the newspaper online or scan the QR code pictured here to get started.

December 14 – Philharmonic Brass

Adult Winter Reading

Adult Winter Reading is BACK for the third year in a row! Adult Winter Reading is a great way to shrug off the doldrums of the winter and pick up some books you’ve wanted to read, or have been meaning to read, or maybe haven’t even thought to read. To take part this year, come to the Multimedia & Fiction Desk, or any of the library’s branches, and ask for an Adult Winter Reading card. Complete six of the challenges on the inside of the card and return it to us, and we’ll hook you up with an umbrella, because we all know that winter in the Upstate means lots of rain.

We’re also excited to host Deb Perelman, the beloved author of the Smitten Kitchen home cooking blog, in the Barrett Room on December 12 at 7:00 p.m. to celebrate her latest cookbook, Smitten Kitchen Keepers. Deb will talk about her tiny kitchen (if she can cook it, you can too!), how she designs her recipes, and some of her favorite holiday recipes ahead of Hanukkah and Christmas. Smitten Kitchen cookbooks will be available for purchase during the event, and you can get them signed by Deb afterward - a perfect holiday gift for the person who’s impossible to shop for! For more information on Deb Perelman, please visit www.prhspeakers.com.
