

SCPL & Smitten Kitchen
December 12th at 7pm at Headquarters

The author behind the beloved Smitten Kitchen home cooking blog, Deb Perelman, will be in Spartanburg to promote her latest book, Smitten Kitchen Keepers. Pick up a copy for yourself or as a gift and get idea for what to cook up this holiday season! For more information on Deb Perelman, visit prhspeakers.com.

Voices & Votes: Democracy in America at Cowpens
December 17th through January 25th

Cowpens Library is hosting Voices and Votes: Democracy in America, a traveling multimedia exhibit that asks who has the right to vote, what our responsibilities are as citizens, and how our voices are heard. Following the history of voting in America, Voices and Votes asks its visitors to consider how we can continue to form a more perfect union.

Voices and Votes: Democracy in America is part of Museum on Main Street, a collaboration between the Smithsonian Institution and SC Humanities.

Chautauqua: Catherine "Caty" Greene
January 12th at 7pm at Headquarters

In 1781, Caty Greene—wife of Continental Army General Nathanael Greene—works toward the front lines of the American War for Independence. As she moves closer to her husband's camp, Caty is struck by the devastation and desolation that the War has left behind.

Reserve your spot for this winter edition of Chautauqua by heading to our website or calling the Kennedy Room at 864-596-3508.

SCPL & Bestselling novelist Brad Taylor
January 27th at 7pm at Headquarters

The old adage "write what you know" holds especially true for bestselling author and retired Special Forces Lieutenant Colonel Brad Taylor, who has penned sixteen military thrillers about Pike Logan, a Taskforce operator who works outside the law to stop some of the greatest threats to global safety.

Taylor's in Spartanburg to celebrate his 17th novel, The Devil's Ransom, and we'll give away free copies of his new novel at the door to celebrate.
